

Cheltenham

TOGETHER
Presents
Life's Big Questions

Is toleration of 'other' still a British value?

Wednesday 18th October 2017

6.45 to 8.30 pm

Council Chamber, Municipal Offices, Promenade, Cheltenham with an expert panel leading an open debate

EVERYONE WELCOME

Cheltenham

TOGETHER
Presents
Life's Big Questions

Are you interested in the big questions you hear about in the news?

Do you have ideas and opinions but want to know more than the newspapers or television tells you?

Do you want to find out more about what other people think, and why they think that?

We are a group of ordinary people who do! And we would like you to join us. None of us are 'experts', we just want to find out more and share ideas.

We find people who are knowledgeable on the subject. Then we arrange a time and a place to listen with respect to both sides of one of 'life's big questions'.

There is time for everyone to ask questions and have a conversation about what they think.

Is a group of people from different backgrounds and cultures whose aim is to promote the integration of Cheltenham's diverse communities.

ANYONE WHO SUPPORTS THIS AIM CAN JOIN CHELTENHAM TOGETHER

Supported by:

For more information contact:
01242 692112 or bernice.thomson@cwep.co.uk

Or visit our Facebook page 'Cheltenham Together'

